

Wondering what to wear this winter?

Take some time for yourself. Book a seat at one of the fashion-and-beauty workshops in our forthcoming countrywide series to learn about the latest winter looks from fashion consultant Chata Romano, and discover beauty trends and luscious new make-up colours from the famous House of Chanel

SEASON AFTER SEASON, fashions change. From the shape of an eyebrow to the hemline of a skirt, new trends are predicted for every year. But who has the time to figure out whether you should be wearing Greta Garbo's or one of the Hemingway offsprings' eyebrows this year, and who has the budget to indulge the latest folly dreamt up by Lagerfeld or Lacroix?

We make it simple. In just three-and-a-half hours, including time for tea, we can teach you all about the latest fashion trends and how to wear them on a tight budget and an imperfect figure. All you need to do is book a seat at our fashion-and-beauty workshop, and resolve to buy nothing until you've heard the experts.

Fashion consultant Chata Romano, an authority on wardrobe planning who was named Emergent Entrepreneur by the Institute of Marketing Management last year, will sum up the fashion trends for winter '93. She'll show you how to interpret them to suit your lifestyle, your figure and your budget, and reacquaint you with the classics too. A video screening of the Chanel autumn '92 collection, straight from Paris, will put you in the right mood for a presentation by National Training Director Marcelle Ireland.

Marcelle will introduce Chanel Précieux, the autumn/winter '92-'93 make-up collection. Some exciting colour innovations in this range include a vibrant pink-red blusher called Jouis Contraste "Mystère", a warm iridescent brown for the eyes called Ombre Couture "Jersey Topaze", and two great twosomes, Ombre Facettes Duo "Pierre-Lunaire", which is a smoky grey-green and a radiant golden beige, and "Roche-Cristal", a deep claret softened with grey and a transparent rosy beige. For lips there are four brilliant new reds, ranging from the intense vermillion of Rouge Extreme "Interdit" to the cheerful fuchsia red of Rouge à Levres "Précieux". Marcelle will also reveal the coming winter's beauty trends and readers who attend the workshop will each receive a gift from Chanel.

Workshops will take place in the outstanding conference facilities and elegant ambience of Southern Sun Hotels. Morning sessions will kick off with a Continental breakfast, while at evening workshops snacks will be served. Guests will also enjoy pure fruit juices from Ceres and, from Twee Jongegezellen Estate in Tulbagh, Krone Borealis, a unique new sparkling wine. Choose between a morning or evening workshop and diarise the dates. □

This winter take fashion and beauty to new heights

BOOKING FORM ON PAGE 151

Cape Town - Cape Sun Hotel, 29 March 1993.
Durban - Maharani Hotel, 31 March 1993.
Johannesburg - Sandton Sun Hotel, 2 April 1993.
Morning workshops: 9am - 12:30pm (arrival 8:30am)
Evening workshops: 6pm - 9:30pm (arrival 5:30pm)
Cost: R65 per person

